An Important Change in Time.
From the Wayne County Press.
The following letter discloses the plan of Rev. D. B. Turner's new calendar, which will attract the attention of the thoughtful everywhere.

Wooming, March 10, 1880.

Mr. D. B. Turner, 267 West 12th St., —I thank you for your kind notice in the Wayne County Press of my new calendar. It is certainly to be desired that each day of the week should fall upon a particular and regular day of the month on each successive year.

At the same time, it would be very difficult to secure the adoption of any calendar which would alter the solar cycle, and which is, therefore, far more likely to be adopted by 1872 than any other calendar that has been devised. Can I succeed in the preparation of a calendar by which to have each particular day of the week fall upon a stated day of the month on each successive year? Those who I consult say no, that others of more ability as chronologists have tried it and failed. All, however, admit the practical utility of such a calendar, if it can be made. It gives no great pleasure, my friend, to say to you and through you to the world in general, that I have been successful in my efforts in this direction. The calculations in this new calendar regulate 30 days to each of the months except June and December. June, however, it makes to consist of 32 days, and December, ordinarily, of the same number. This I admit, would give but 364 days to the year, unless it were arranged to have an extra week at certain stated intervals. But as my calendar is arranged for this, to let December ordinarily have 32 days, but every sixth, eleventh, seventeenth, twenty-second and twenty-eighth year of the solar cycle, 31 days, and the difficulty is adjusted. The solar cycle is said to be complete once in every twenty-eight years. Under our present arrangement of time, then, we have 10,227 days in a full solar cycle. The adjustment of my new calendar gives the required 10,227 days for the solar cycle, and yet keeps so arranged that a definite day of the week will annually recur upon a particular day of the month. In the following table, which you recently published for me, if adopted by 1872, the calendar's time states herein mentioned to annually recur on Monday, in the manner specified above:

January..... 1 8 15 22 29
February..... 6 13 20 27
March..... 4 11 18 25 31
April..... 3 10 17 24 30
May..... 2 9 16 23 30
June..... 1 8 15 22 29
July..... 7 14 21 28
August..... 5 12 19 26 31
September..... 4 11 18 25 30
October..... 3 10 17 24 31
November..... 2 9 16 23 30
December..... 1 8 15 22 29
And you will observe that the table is arranged to have Christmas occur always on the Sabbath, New Year's day always on Monday, Valentine's time always on Tuesday, Washington's birthday always on Wednesday, July 4th always on Thursday, etc. Any person born after the adoption of this new calendar will not only be able to keep the very day of the month on which his birth occurred, but also the very day of the week. And in legal transactions, a witness can swear to the particular day of the week by knowing the day of the month. A number of other advantages which the adoption of this new calendar would secure, might be mentioned, but as they will readily suggest themselves to all business men, I forbear to trouble you further at this time.

Very respectfully,
D. B. TURNER.

The American Screw Company agreed to pay the English makers of the screws annually to keep their goods out of this market. Only small sizes would screw into the present tariff, to sell at a profit, and these will now be shut out. In view of the above arrangement, one of our American houses bought up all the English screws in market, and the trade is now shut up to these and American makers.

CHASKA, THURSDAY, JAN. 12, 1871.

Judge of 5th Judicial District.

The Legislature, last week, canvassed the votes polled at the last election for members of Congress, and Judges for the 5th and 9th Judicial Districts, and declared that Averill and Dummell were duly elected as members of the next Congress, and that, Judge Chaffield and Judge Hanscom were duly elected as Judges of the 5th and 9th Judicial Districts.

While the returns were being canvassed for Judge of this District, the Hon. Mr. Lord made a motion that further proceedings be postponed for a few days "that counsel might be heard" in opposition to giving a certificate of election to Judge Chaffield notwithstanding he received some over thirteen hundred majority in the District. The object of the motion, we presume, was to delay the issuing of the certificate to Judge Chaffield until after he had been declared, duly elected by the Courts, in which the validity of his election is to be brought solely on the ground that the Town Supervisors in some of the towns in the Dist. did not post up a list of the voters of their respective towns prior to the day of election, and thus keep the Judge from entering upon the duties of Judge, until after the termination of a long contest in the Courts compelling the person elected to prove that the Town Supervisors of all the towns in the Dist. did post list of voters instead of the one not elected to show that the Supervisors did not do their duty in that respect. But what renders the motion of the Hon. Mr. Lord the more ridiculous and absurd, is that this very question has been decided by the Supreme Court of this State—that the neglect of the town Supervisors to post list of voters does not vitiate an election, it only renders the Supervisors liable to fine, and further, a man must have a shallow pate not to know that the Legislature has no constitutional nor lawful right to go behind the canvassing Board as made by the different County Auditors, except as to the members of their own body, all such contests must be prosecuted in the Courts. We have serious doubts, whether the motion was made as a joke or in earnest—if a joke, the mover should have a leather medal, if in earnest, he should never be envied for a superabundance of brains. The motion to "postpone that counsel might be heard" was voted down almost unanimously, and Andrew G. Chaffield was duly declared, elected as Judge of the 5th Judicial District, and a certificate ordered.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT.

The last will and testament of F. H. Nichols was admitted to Probate at the Probate court last week. The will was contested that it was not a testamentary in its character, and partly on the ground of its not being executed in accordance with the requirements of the statutes. The amount of property left by the testator is about ten thousand dollars. The widow claims under the will the whole amount.

We believe the probate court held, that the instrument was testamentary in its character, and that the Statutes had been substantially complied with in its execution, and therefore admitted the same to probate. A question will hereafter arise in regard to the construction of the will, the heirs we believe allege that the widow can claim only a life estate in the property, while the widow will claim an unconditional estate. We are not informed whether or not the contestants will appeal from the decision of the Probate Court.

Frank Warner appeared for the contestant, Gottfried Nichols, an only heir of deceased, and L. L. Baxter and Joseph Weinmann for widow. The case was ably managed by the Attorneys, having read and cited we judged all the authorities, pertaining to, a case of this kind, from the time of Henry the VIII down to the present.

OUR SENATOR.—We see that our Senator L. L. Baxter is taking a leading position in the Senate this winter. He is a man of more than ordinary ability, familiar with parliamentary usages, quick and forcible in debate, conservative in his views—pleasing in his intercourse with his associates, ever at his post, industriously working for the best interest of his constituents. The resolution offered by him in the Senate that a committee might be appointed to investigate the alleged corruption of Rail Road corporations has hit them "on the nail" and their mouth piece the St. Paul Press with characteristic insolence says that Baxter "should be seen."

What is most wanted by the people in this State is that the inside Ring of the Rail Road corporations "may be seen."

OSTERS.—Fresh oysters have just been received at Frank Ess. Give him a call.

COMMUNICATION.—We have received an interesting communication from Carver, but want of room compels us to postpone its insertion until next week.

It is expected that Rev. Mr. Powell, an Episcopal Clergyman will preach in this town Sunday evening Jan. 15th at 7 o'clock.

MILD WINTER.—Probably the oldest inhabitant has never seen so mild and pleasant winter in Minnesota as the present. Now nearly the middle of January and workmen engaged in grading the R. Road the same as usual, and we have been informed that no day during the winter have the employees been obliged to suspend work, in consequence of the severity of the weather. We have as yet no sleighing in this vicinity, but as we go to press it looks snowy.

REAL ESTATE.—Notwithstanding the hard times there have been a number of good sales of farming lands in the County during the past few weeks. Jacob Baker sold eighty acres a few miles from town consideration $850.

TEACHING.—Quite a number of the young ladies and gentlemen of this village are absent teaching school during the winter. Miss Hesser, Miss Du Toit, Miss Heffner, Miss Smith, and Thos. Williams and Francis Krayenbuhl and A. Ketter may they all be successful in teaching the young ones how to shoot.

Next week it is presumed that the Legislature will elect William Windom to the Senate of the United States to represent Minnesota for six years from March next. We would have wished that some other man could have been elected, but the Rail Road have put us bound hand and foot, and the people are but "flowers of wood and drawers of water" to King Rail Road. We once had a King Cotton but he has been superseded by a more potent one—Socialism.

SUBSCRIPTION.—The Valley Herald your only Chaska paper, also advertiser in the Herald.

SNOW.—We were in hopes that our snow storm, which was going to give us sleighing, but we were disappointed. It has almost disappeared. Wagon grooves still remain.

TRIUMPH.

BY H. B.

Not he who rides through crowded city's gate,
At hand of blundered horse,
Of victor's triumph, in full pomp and state
Of war, the utmost glory has been won
To which the thrill of triumph can be won.

Not he who by a nation's vast acclaim
Is hailed as conqueror and savior of his name,
And while the people madly shout his name,
Without a conscious purpose of his own,
And conquered utterly.

In what white host the blood of triumph flows!
—Independent.

MARY'S GIRLHOOD.

PASTOR ROBERT.

This is the blessed Mary, pre-destined God's virgin. One is as the angel, Dwelt young in Nazareth of Galilee,
Unto God's will the brought about respect, Profound simplicity,
And supreme patience. From her mother's knee Lent and taught her, in holy circumstance, Strong in grace (love), in holy circumstance.

So hold she through her girlhood; as it were An angel's life, that near God
Dwelt and grew, and as the angel's home,
She dwelt in her white bed, and had no fear
Of death, yet still in love, and in love,
Because the fulness of the time was come.

FLORENCE'S REWARD.

BY FRANCES HUNSMAN RADEN.

It was Christmas morning. The sun Was shining brightly on the new-fallen snow. It was just cold enough to freeze. The sleighbells were ringing merrily. The children were having a gay time, skating and coasting, and playing tricks on passers-by. One decrepit old man was thrown down by their tricks, and lay so still they feared they had killed him.

Another eye besides theirs witnessed the accident and its cause. A young girl stood in the bay-window of the mansion before which the old man had fallen; another instant, and she came running down the marble steps, and unmindful of her costly attire, the rich clothes that fell in heavy folds about her form, she sank down by the old man, exclaiming:

"For shame, boys! Come, Eugene, and help me raise him. Say, he must be carried. Go bring Brown here."

A moment or two after, Eugene returned, followed by a large, strong looking man, who, in obedience to the girl's command, bent down and bore to the house the inanimate form of the poor old stranger.

"Gently, gently, brown! Place him on the lounge," she said.

Restoratives were applied. Tenderly he was cared for. And after a short time, the kind girl's efforts were successful. The old man opened his eyes, and looked inquiringly into her face.
She explained the accident, and was holding a glass of wine to his lips, when a servant entered the room, bearing on a silver waiter a card. She looked at it and said:

"Tell Mr. Granger I will be up very soon. Ask mamma to entertain him.
Fifteen minutes passed, and still she ingored with the suffering man. He was lame, and the fall had occasioned such severe pain to the afflicted limb, that he had fainted. It was impossible for him to walk at all just then.

A rustle of silken robes, and Mrs.
Cameron glided into the room, and stood looking with perfect amazement on the scene before her. Kneeling beside the lounge, alternately bathing the face and placing wine to the lips of the miserable old man, was her daughter.

"Florence!—who? what is the meaning of this?" she asked.

The gentle girl explained, and her mother said:

"One of the servants could have attended to him. If he is able to be moved now, you had better send word to the proper authorities, and have him carried to his home, or the hospice."

"But, mamma, we are the proper ones to attend him. Eugene and his companions are accountable for his suffering."

The old man said something in a low, feeble voice, and Florence's ear was bent close to catch the words.

"He will go home," he says. "Well, you must wait a little longer, and I will have the carriage."

"A carriage? If you please, Florence, send Brown to fetch the carriage, Mrs. Cameron said. As she turned to leave the room, she continued, "Mr. Granger will feel flattered by your conduct."

"Send him here," she said. "I know he will think I'm doing right."

A few moments more and Carl Granger came into the room. Florence's sweet, bright face, that had been raised to greet him, was suddenly clouded.
She saw that she had mistaken her lover—for, with an expression of contempt, which he could not, or cared not to hide, he looked upon her as such a creature. Mrs. Granger passed the compliments of the day, when again the door opened and an another young man entered. He was not strikingly handsome, like the other, but his was the face of one that children love to linger near, women confide in, and men trust.

"Excuse me, but I have permission," he said. "Mrs. Cameron told me you were entertaining your guests here."

her dark eyes, and her lips wreathed with smiles that he had failed to draw forth.

That night Carl Granger, determined to know his fate, asked Florence to be his wife, and to her parents' great disappointment, she kindly, but firmly said she "could not love him."

"Foolish girl! Do you not know that, besides his own fortune, Mr.
Granger is the father of an only son, and who is fabulously rich?" said Mrs. Cameron.

Florence's father's disappointment was as keen as his wife's, for he felt his foundation crumbling, and knew before long it must fall. And so it was, before another year had passed the stately mansion was no longer his. He was shut out penniless. But he was a true loving father, and would not barter his child's heart for gold.

And so, when William Hartley won Florence, he took her not from a home of luxury, but one as humble as his own. Years rolled by, bringing with them joy and sorrow, until six had passed. During the last one clouds had gathered, swift and dark, over William Hartley and his loved ones; and so on Christmas morning, six years after the one when the strange old man was helped by Florence, they were absolutely destitute.

"I wonder what has become of that old man," said William, during the day. "I called a few days after I took him home, to inquire how he was getting on, but he had gone from that place."

"Do you know, William, to that old man's sufferings you are indebted for your wife? That day I saw the difference between you and Carl Granger. His heartlessness frightened me, and I fled to you, and grew calm and happy."

said Florence, while a beautiful flush spread over her face, chasing away the care-worn look of a few moments before.

"You fled to poverty, toil, suffering.
Oh! my darling, I hoped to have sheltered you from such."

"I fled from worse. Come, cheer up! all will yet be well. I did not let you, the last time I was out, I saw Carl Granger very much interested. He is living now entirely on his expectations."

"Mamma! mamma! Kriss Kringle is coming! See! See! Hurrah! Old Kriss liked to have forgotten us, I guess!" cried little Willie, shouting and clapping his hands.

Florence arose to look out, when a knock sounded on the door; opening which, she beheld standing before her the old man of whom she had just been speaking.

"Come in! I am glad to see you!
Where have you been this long time?
And how did you find us?" Florence asked, taking his hand and drawing him in.

"I found very easily what I have never lost. I've thought of you often, but chose to come to-day. It is a good time to come," answered the old man.

"Come! sit down here," said William, getting up and offering his own commodious chair.

"Wait a bit. If I set down, I don't want to get up soon. Better let me how long I can stay," answered the old man, still standing.

"As long as you like. We are poor, very poor, but if you want a home, we will not send you forth. Sit down," answered William.

"The same! unchanged!" murmured the old man, as he sat down.

"What shall we call you?" asked Florence.

"Kriss Kringle! The children called me so. Let them continue. And—may I say Uncle, if you prefer," he said.

A comical expression was on his face, smiles continued to play about his thin lips, and he seemed very happy.

When Florence went out to prepare the frugal dinner, the old man called the children, and listened to their happy voices. William was watching her him amused, when the old man's words were whispered, and little Willie, seeming to understand, lowered his tone, and the heads of the old and the young were bent close together, at some mysterious plot-ting.

The father's amusement was changed to the greater amazement, when, soon after Florence came back, Willie ran up, exclaiming:

THE NATHAN MURDER.

Alleged Discovery of the Murderer—A Marvelous Story.

The Sun chronicles the closing up of the year with a first-class sensation.
It is no less than a five-column letter from the famous Count Joannes, pretending to be a messenger of the thunders of heaven, who killed the late Benjamin Nathan, and of his accomplice, the latter is printed in large type with the greatest degree of typographical display by the Sun, which editorially endorses the statements of the Count. The letter appears to have been written in a delirium of delight over the result of his long-continued investigations. He is always "grand, gloomy and peculiar," but this discovery has made him epigrammatical and witty, as well.

According to the Count's narrative, he with four other gentlemen formed a sort of Vigilance Committee for the investigation of the Nathan murder. All but himself, however, retired from the fruitless labor. He was left alone, and, as he says:

"I received (to write in alliteration) numerous letters from nobles and jesters, Gentiles and gentlemen, matrons and maiden, ladies and lancers, slanders and sumners, clergymen and cheats, priests and prisoners, bombastic bulletins, brokers, brokers, and brokers, and ling' burglars, dated in this, West, North and South—a collection of compositional messengers of the thunders of mockery or sense, to throw me off my guard; and some denounced death against me, and in other instances vice, suggestive conclusions."

Finally, through official aid and his own inquiries, he found an accomplice of the murderer in prison. This man was in the Marino Corps during the war, and was a member of the same company as the man who killed Mr.
Nathan. There was a plot, he said, to rob the house of Mr. Nathan, in which he himself, however, was not concerned.
There was no intention to kill Mr. Nathan, but the murderer preferred to take desperate chances than to go to Sing Sing, and had before this killed two men.

The Count gives a long series of questions and answers to and from this accomplice of the murderer, who was in prison when the murder was committed. He also said that the murder was committed by the use of an "iron ring," a phrase exactly describing the method of the murderer. This peculiar phrase was used both by the accomplice and by the suspected murderer in regard to the fatal instrument.

"And the accomplice said:
"This iron ring was picked up in Camp McDermitt, Nevada, in May, 1869, while Jim and I were there. It was used for opening boxes of clothing, from which we had been ordered to remove the same. It was a ring of iron, and brought on to New York as a memento of having brained a Plute Indian, and kept by me in my trunk until I gave Jim a hint to get it."

We give, also, the questions and answers which follow:

Count Joannes—Did you see in the murderer's possession any jewels, money, or any valuables that belonged to the late Mr. Nathan?

Prisoner—I saw three large diamond studs and a gold watch in a chain, when I saw him. I did not take them, but I saw them in his possession. I was brought on to New York as a memento
of having brained a Plute Indian, and
kept by me in my trunk until I gave Jim a hint to get it."

Count Joannes—Did the murderer give you any money?

Prisoner—He gave me five dollars.
I saw him on the 25th of July, 1870, the day of the murder—did the subsequent killer of Mr. Nathan call and see me?

Prisoner—About July 20, 21, or 22, 1870.

Count Joannes—Did he ask to borrow any articles, implements or professional "scissors" from you?

Prisoner—Yes; he asked me for jimmies, etc., and said he was going to "crack" that place in Twenty-third street. I told him to go to my trunk and get the jimnies, etc., and he took the "dog" and left a letter.

Count Joannes—Was the implement now known as the iron "dog" among the articles you loaned to him?

Prisoner—It was unkindly to carry in my pocket.

The evidence of the intelligent surgeon of the whole block was inevitable.
The night was the severest of this winter, the spray from the streams falling in hail upon the half-dressed inmates of the hotel, as they stood watching the means of egress from the building, to see if the next that rushed out was a brother, sister, husband, wife, son or daughter.

When the first broke out, and the encouragement to some one poised between two horrible forms of death and powerless, except to cry out above the din below, save me! I saw the man fleeing under cover. This deficiency has rendered it necessary for the divisions of cavalry employed around Paris to constantly take up the march from one place to another. So also, when Groeben's division was engaged in pillaging Mantelville's way, and in keeping his flank clear on the march from Metz,
a half battalion of German Jagers accompanied each brigade of horse, and for the sake of moving more rapidly, were placed in a ready position.

The English journals in commenting upon these movements, say that the infantry carried in carts form at best a very poor substitute for the mounted rifle corps, and the use of skirmishes in a wooded country, where long marches were necessary, were found to be invaluable in the war of the rebellion in this country.

VALUABLE, in all colors, is very much worn for ladies' garments, but German cavalry has not made any approach towards discovering the way in which to operate dismounted, so as to protect itself against snipers. This deficiency has rendered it necessary for the divisions of cavalry employed around Paris
to constantly take up the march from one place to another. So also, when Groeben's division was engaged in pillaging Mantelville's way, and in keeping

companied each brigade of horse, and

THE RICHMOND DISASTER.

Particulars of the Burning of the Spottwood Hotel—A Thrilling and Heartrending Scene—Seven or Eight Lives Lost.

A special correspondent of the New York Herald sends details the burning of the Spottwood Hotel in Richmond, on Saturday night:

Not a year has passed since—swiftly, suddenly and without a shadow of premonition—this city was plunged into a depth of gloom almost without a parallel in the annals of any city on the Continent by the falling in of the floor of the Court of Appeals in the Capitol building. Since then flood has spread desolation throughout the State to addition of the horrors that have marked the last decade in this beautiful land, and now I have to chronicle a calamity which, coming at the time it does, makes us feel that it is written by the fates, "City of the Seven Hills, thou art doomed."

The demon of fire has again ravished itself to the destruction of property and loss of life. Desolation, destruction, death, come hand in hand with the Ice King. Last night—Christmas Eve, which never, even in the dark days of our civil strife, was night but a time of merry-making and rejoicing throughout the Old Dominion—found nearly every citizen in the city in a few minutes after the fire was discovered in the Christmas morning found the express where the holly had been the night before. At half-past two o'clock a. m. a canopy of fire hung over the city. In one short hour, certainly five if not more souls were not hurried, but dragged slowly into eternity, through the most horrible scene of desecration.

Only Dante, in his wildest flights of poetic imagination, could have depicted one-half the horrors of the burning of the Spottwood Hotel.

Built without any brick partitions above the first floor, the flames having once gotten a headway, any attempt to check them was worse than futile. A few minutes after the fire was discovered, the watchman, who happened to pass the pantry where a stove had been negligently allowed to burn, and burning about the first floor, rushed to the floor, it had rushed with lightning speed from cellar to garret, and by the time the Fire Department had reached the hotel, the entire structure was thoroughly consumed.

The eastward bound night express train on the Missouri and Pacific Railroad ran off the track Thursday, at Rug-er Station, seventy-five miles west of St. Louis, and completely wrecked the express and baggage car. Wm. Hein, of Atchison, Kansas, express messenger, was seriously and the baggage man slightly hurt. The accident was caused by the sinking of the sill on which the switch rests, and although the indicator properly placed the switch, the rail of the main track, and there was about fifteen inches flange.
One of the locomotive wheels was torn off the engine, and ran some three hundred yards over the frozen ground.
The express car ran into a freight train on a side track, badly injuring its engine and leaving it badly damaged. The freight train was hurdled down an embankment. But for the breaking of the couplings a terrible loss of life would have resulted, as the train was running at a high rate of speed and had some 200 passengers on board. Damage to the train, $20,- 000 to $30,000.

BRITISH BREAKFAST TABLES.—The Pall Mall Gazette complains that British breakfast tables are threatened with a serious disaster, since the French Government had prohibited the exportation of salt butter and eggs from France. The Gazette says that while the agricultural population is suffering from the want of salt, the commercial districts are increasing in numbers, so that the English people will year by year have to rely more and more on foreign produce to supplement the insufficient home grown stores. In 1869 England imported $35,000,000 worth of butter, of which one-third came from France. During the five years ending December 31st, 1869, there were imported into England from France, 230,- 384,000 pounds of butter, and 1,840,- 600,000 eggs, against a yearly average of 177,290 pounds of butter, and 360,- 120,000 of eggs. From these figures it may be seen that the English people will be seriously inconvenienced from this embargo.

MOONED RICHMOND.—It is observed that in the present war in Europe the German cavalry has not made any approach towards discovering the way in which to operate dismounted, so as to protect itself against snipers. This deficiency has rendered it necessary for the divisions of cavalry employed around Paris
to constantly take up the march from one place to another. So also, when Groeben's division was engaged in pillaging Mantelville's way, and in keeping
his flank clear on the march from Metz,
a half battalion of German Jagers accompanied each brigade of horse, and
for the sake of moving more rapidly,
were placed in a ready position.

The English journals in commenting
upon these movements, say that the infantry carried in carts
form at best a very poor substitute for
the mounted rifle corps, and the use
of skirmishes in a wooded country, where
long marches were necessary, were
found to be invaluable in the war of the rebellion in this country.

The WARRIORS OF RUSSIA.—Let nobody be deceived as to the real effective strength of the Northern Bear. There is not a more egregious error prevalent in the average American mind respect-really knows so little—that that of sup-bleak, impenetrable, gloomy; myster-

Russia is emphatically not a martial nation, but the contrary; it has an ever-cupboard; its military administration, as well as its military, is the most corrupt in the world, save the American alone; it has not, at this time, more than 300,000 effective men at its disposal.

THE MONT CENIS TUNNEL.

Origin and History of the Great Work.

The "eternal" barrier between France and Italy has at last been overcome, and workmen for thirteen years have been working toward each other in the bowels of the Alps.

The Alps have been crossed over with great armies since the days of Hannibal, but the undertaking has been one of no little toil and some danger.

In 1856 the first Napoleon constructed a road through the pass of Mont Cenis, which was at a moderate elevation of some 5,400 feet above the level of the adjacent country.

This was thirty miles long and eighteen feet wide, and was built at a cost of 7,000,000 francs. It served for many years as the only highway between France and Italy; but within the last five years a railway has been built over the ridge, upon which a steam-engine of peculiar construction slowly makes its way.

The idea of piercing the mountain, and gliding from one country to the other in a few minutes' time, was first broached about twenty years ago, and as a matter of course, was ridiculed by that large class of persons whose conception of what can be done is formed entirely in accordance with what they know has been done.

All manner of difficulties and obstacles were suggested, and declared to be insuperable, but the project was not to be discouraged. The Government of France and Italy were applied to for their assistance for the accomplishment of this stupendous work.

The feasibility of the work was argued at length before the legislative bodies of both these nations, and the result was finally a contract for the work.

The route chosen was, of course, the shortest possible line through the vast mountain range, as the altitude of the peaks or the gentle rising of the ridge made no difference with the work.

The old plan of sinking shafts from the top at intervals, and working from one to another, was pronounced impracticable from the start, and the continuous tunneling from either end was determined upon as the only method of proceeding.

The workmen being supplied with light and air as they retreated from the cheerful light of day and the wholesome atmosphere of the outer world.

The place was found about fifteen miles from the town of Mont Cenis, where a tunnel of 12,220 metres, or a little less than eight miles in length, would pierce the mountain range and connect the town of Foinet near Lyons, in the valley of the Aare, in Savoy, with Bardonecchia, in the valley of the Dora Riparia, in Italy, by a railway.

On each side of the mountain, a deep length could run in a very few minutes. Between these two termini, the tunnel passes under three mountains of considerable height.

At the mouth of the tunnel, on the Italian side, the Col de Jungs, the Grand Vallon and the Col de la Kone, ranged in the order in which they are here named as we pass from a mountain range to a plain.

The tunnel is over 11,000 feet above the sea level, and by the old method of sinkings shafts it would have required more time and labor to bore one of these than has been taken for the entire work.

The work was begun in 1857. At first the ordinary hand-drill was used, but the rock and the great masses of powder blasted out were kept up on the Italian side until 1861, and on the French side until 1863, when the use of the pneumatic drill was introduced.

The use of the pneumatic drill was the completion of the work. Accordingly it behooved the projectors to think them of some more expedient method of proceeding. The use of steam was out of the question, and the attention of the Italian engineers was therefore turned to a device for using compressed air as the motive power.

This matter presented no very great difficulty in its general principles, but a great deal of experimenting was necessary before it could be put into successful practice.

A machine was finally invented and put into operation which could stand outside for one of the streams that came down from the mountains, and with its aid force the air through long tubes to the drilling apparatus.

Later a machine was invented which carried a large number of perforators, each of which bored a separate hole in the rock. By the compressing machine, the air was forced into the cylinders containing the drills of the perforating machines. By the opening of a valve, the air is forced against the face of the rock with a force of about 200 pounds, turned slightly, and withdrawn. Two hundred of these drills are given every minute with each drill, and when holes of the required depth have been bored, the air is turned off, and the machine withdrawn.

The holes are bored in such a way as to converge slightly toward each other, so that every blast will bring down a considerable mass of rock. At first, powder was used in the blasting, but this was soon abandoned on objections to this. As soon as any considerable progress had been made, and subsequently gun-cotton was used, and the work was placed by the use of nitro-glycerine.

The rate of progress has varied, of course, with the hardness of the rock, and has been from one to two feet per day. Among the incidental appliances employed by the workmen, are a gas-house, miniature water-works, and machinery for supplying their own lungs with air as well as those of the perforating machinery.

Thus the three essentials of comfortable life—light, air, and water, are received from the outer world by machinery.

The tunnel is in the form of a segment of a cylinder, the bottom being level for the roadway of the proposed railway. The height of the arch is 24 feet 7 inches, the width of the tunnel at the base 25 feet 3 inches, and the width in the broadest part 26 feet 2 inches. As fast as the rock is blasted out it is removed, and a party of masons follow close behind the busy machinery to complete the masonry.

The work has gone on day after day, night for more than a dozen years, and at last the two gangs of workmen have met—so we are told by the telegraph—far beneath the summit of the Great Vallon.

The process has been a little more rapid on the French than on the Italian side, the average being 56.80 metres on the former to 53.20 on the latter.

Professional Life in New York.

From the College Record.

The number of lawyers in New York is variously estimated from four to seven thousand. It is sometimes said that there is one lawyer in every hundred inhabitants; if so, how can they live?

One of the first counselors of the city said to me, a few days ago, "there are about four thousand lawyers in the city; five hundred of these do all the important business; and the most lucrative cases are confined to these."

This is true, and there is little reason to doubt it, why do so many students enter the legal profession?

The answer given here is, that law requires little capital. No young man can now begin business, as a merchant, unless he is wealthy. A man needs a small fortune to be able to rent one room on Broadway.

A young lawyer can make himself useful in the law office of a merchant, and in a few years he will be able to make a comfortable living for himself.

The sale of real estate employs many lawyers in looking up titles and making deeds. Still, it is very difficult for a young practitioner to earn, for some years, more than twenty dollars a month; he cannot enter into a family relation. The effect of such a law is patent to all.

The physicians rank next to the lawyers in numbers, but they hardly amount to more than a thousand. They fall more readily into practice than lawyers; still only one in a hundred becomes widely known, and only a few are rich from their professional income.

The ministers are last but not least in this enumeration. I do not know the number of churches in New York; but I suppose they cannot exceed four hundred. These are but partially filled on the Sabbath. A few eminent preachers, ten or twelve, are crowded houses, the rest preach to two or three hundred hearers.

I have been told that about one in ten of the population attend church on the Sabbath. Citizens visit the Park more on that day than on any other. Pleasure and recreation are more earnestly sought, at all times, than spiritual culture. The ministers, therefore, have a hard field of labor; but it is quite as respectable, and, probably, more remunerative than the professions of law and medicine.

Miss Anne Brewster writes from Florence to the Boston Advertiser: "I am visiting in the studios, I went to Mead's. This sculptor has the largest commission ever sent from the United States; the model of a statue of Lincoln, to be placed in the Lincoln Memorial at Springfield, Ill. It is to cost $200,000. WAR NEWS.

LE MANS, Jan. 16.—Frederick Charles entered Le Mans at 11 o'clock today, with the third and tenth Prussian army corps. There was fighting yesterday in the streets, but today the town is quiet.

Chaussey and Gumbetta retreated toward Augers, pursued by the Duke of Mecklenburg.

The Prussians captured thirteen cannon, two flags and 18,000 prisoners.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—The New York Herald's says: A treaty between Prussia, Russia and the French Empire is talked of, based upon the following terms: First, the modification of the commercial treaty of 1860. Second, the Oriental question to be regarded as a secondary matter by France. Third, that the portion of Belgium known as French Flanders, to be annexed to France in lieu of Alsace and Lorraine, which are to be annexed to Germany. It is supposed that the latter proposition will satisfy the amou propre of France and reconcile the people's restoration.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 15.—Gen. Chaussey's defeat is complete. The French losses during the three day fighting were 16,000, and those of the Germans very heavy.

BORDEAUX, Jan. 15.—A dispatch from Gen. Bourbaki reports that the French have carried the villages of Oyonnax and Mire; also that his troops were gaining ground. Dijon, Grayluer and Vesout have been reconquered.

The bombardment of Paris yesterday, was terrible. The whole district on a line drawn through Fort Enfer, Champ de Mars, Hotel des Invalides, Luxembourg and Fort Bellevue is reached with a rain of shells. The other portions of the city are perfectly safe. The forts outside the city show signs of distress.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—The New York Herald correspondent, writing from the headquarters of the 25th army corps of the Loire, at La Mans, midnight of 14th inst. gives the following particulars of the two day's battle between Chaussey's forces and the German army under Prince Frederick Charles. He writes, this has been one of the most eventful days in the history of France during the present war, and probably one of the most eventful battles fought since the crusades began, closed at nightfall this day. After the defeat of January 10th, Gen. Chaussey displaying much energy, rallied his columns and having received reinforcements, determined to strike another blow, knowing that the whole hope of France centered on his ability to break through the strong opposition of the Lord Prince, and to advance to relief of Paris.

After a night of unceasing labor and anxiety, daylight found the French prepared for conflict.

Versailles, Jan. 17.—Gen. Von Werder was severely attacked yesterday by the Fourth French corps, in his position north of Bellevue. The battle lasted nine hours, and was victoriously repulsed at all points. The German loss was about 200.

The French today unmasked new batteries on the south side of Paris, and their fire was immediately encountered by the German batteries and quickly silenced.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—12.30 a. m. King William telegraphs to the Queen from Versailles on the 16th, that the number of prisoners captured in the recent battles of Le Mans, has increased fully to 25,000, 4 locomotives and 40 wagons are among the spoils.

A dispatch from Versailles says the German department was attacked at Briere on the 13th, by a superior French force, but succeeded in escaping by cutting their way through the enemies' line.

Advices from La Val to the 16th state that the army of Gen. Chaussey retreated in excellent order. Fifty thousand French troops have left Cherbourg to reinforce Chaussey, and with others will be sent at once to the front.

LONDON, Jan. 17, Forenoon.—A dispatch from Versailles, of the 16th, says: Details of the pursuit of Gen. Chaussey come to hand on the 13th. When ten miles west of Le Mans the French were driven into disorderly retreat, with a loss of 400 prisoners. Camp contras was taken, but the stores of material recently there had been carried off by the retreating French.

Beaumont was occupied without notable resistance, and one thousand prisoners taken.

The snow storms of Saturday and Sunday were so severe in Milwaukee as to effect a general blockade of the streets of the city, the snow-banks in many places reaching the height of six feet. Throughout Saturday the city appeared deserted, the embargo on travel causing a general suspension of business. The city railway company were obliged to withdraw their cars, and the usual facilities of travel by hack and omnibus were held at the mercy of the Storm King.

Resolutions Passed at the Carver County Institute.

The following resolutions were adopted at the last session of the Carver Co. Institute, they should have been printed before, but were mislaid.

Whereas in the course of human events our late superintendent, Hon. M. H. Dummel saw fit to resign his position as State Superintendent, and

Whereas our Governor, Horace G. Austin has appointed H. B. Wilson to fill the vacancy. Therefore,

Resolved, That we as teachers in the Institute assembled fully approve of the appointment and while we regret the loss of Mr. Dummel we expect to find in his successor the same energetic, unflinching and practical man.

Resolved, That in the instructors Supt. Niles, P. W. W. Payne we find pleasing and beneficial instructors.

Resolved, That our thanks are especially due to the citizens of Chaska who for the third time hospitably opened their homes for our entertainment, and for the interest taken in the Institute.

Resolved, That we appreciate the labors of our County Supt. in making the Institute a success.

Resolved, That we as teachers should support the "Minnesota Teacher" our "Home" organ edited and published by W. W. Payne Masterville, Minn.

St. Paul Pioneer.—In another column will be found the prospectus of the St. Paul Pioneer. The Pioneer is the oldest and best paper published in the State—Democratic in politics, ably edited, reliable in its information, and always brim full of the very latest news from all parts of the world.

PERSONAL.—We had the pleasure of receiving a call from our old friend and former townsman H. J. Peck Esq. of Waterville. Mr. Peck is a young man of superior abilities as an Attorney, and we are happy to know that his services are appreciated by those unfortunate who resort to the law that their rights may be vindicated.

APP.—We are glad to hear that our townsman T. D. Smith Esq. has been appointed by Secretary of War Post Supt. at Fort Abercrombie. D.T. a position considered quite lucrative.

CONGRESS.—Congress talks of expelling one of their members for getting drunk. We think he must get very much intoxicated. If such acts are followed by expulsion we fear that a quarrel will not be left.

We are sorry to hear that the young and talented Episcopal Clergyman who has officiated at Shakopee for the past two years, Rev. Mr. Palmer, has been obliged to relinquish the pastorate of that Society in consequence of increasing ill health.

THE SHAKOPEE SPR.—This sprightly little paper which has been published in Shakopee for the past two years comes to us this week containing the valuable story of the Editor John H. Brown Esq. We should judge that the Editor contemplates removing from the County—We shall be sorry to lose him from this part of the State, a genial friend, a talented and racy writer, a profound and successful Attorney, he has but few superiors in this State.

We call attention to the advertisement in this week's issue, of the Grand Gift enterprise of the old Catholic Church property. The proceeds will go towards liquidating the debt in the erecting of the new Church. Let every body purchase a ticket.

A PARTY.—The party given by Thos. Williams, the popular school teacher, at the hotel of John L. Orfield on the Glenwood road, in Dahlgreen, on last Saturday evening was a complete success. Chaska, Carver and other towns were largely represented by the young gentlemen accompanied by their sweethearts. The sleighing was good, and a jolly good time was had.

CONCEPT.—The Concordia give author of their splendid musical entertainments at their Hall on Sunday evening Jan 23d.

REV. Mr. Powell, of Shakopee will hold Episcopal services, in court house Hall, Sunday evening next, at 7 o'clock.

The last Survey of the Hastings R. R. runs directly through the center of Mr. Benson's house. Rough we should say.

Good.—John Snell is Agt. for Prince & Co's Organs, and any person wishing to purchase one will do well to give Mr. S. a call. These Organs are considered the best in use. He sells at manufacturers prices.

JUST THING OUT.—Barrett's Hair Restorative, try it, for sale at G. A. Du Toit's Drug Store. 75 cts. per bottle.

RUMOR.—Rumor has it that our friend H. Zaeger, will put up a large brick building in the spring, and that he will fill it with Agricultural Implements. How is it Zaeger?

SCARLET FEVER.—We are sorry to hear that Mr. H. Leeson, lost a bright boy, last week with Scarlet Fever. It is raging to a great extent in the country.

NEW BUSINESS.—C. A. Lamus late Clerk on the Steamer Mankato is now traveling for Bayview Bros. Chicago, a Nation House. Lamus, isn't this new business for you? We hope to see you here in the spring, occupying your old position on the Mankato.

COLD.—Monday night was an extremely cold one, the thermometer going as low as 20° below zero.

NICE.—Dr. Lewis showed us a new case of Surgical Instruments, which he has just rec'd. from New York. They are of Treadwell's Manufacture, and are a nice lot. It is complete in every particular. Ivory handles, &c.

MEAT &c.—B. Rosse of the city meat market has a good supply of meat, sausages, head cheese &c on hand.—Give him a call.

PERSONAL.—Freeman James of Chaska was in town on Monday.

Maj. Rogers, chief engineer of the Hastings & Dakota R. R. was looking around during the week.

DISSOLUTION.—The firm of Dunn & Tauter of this place have dissolved. H. Tanner withdrawing. We understand it is the intention of Mr. T. to go upon the Pacific R. R., where he has some 1500 acres of land, and engage in business there. Mr. Dunn will continue the business here. He is doing a large business, has ample capital, and can sell goods cheap. John Stadine will remain with Mr. Dunn.

LIVERY.—John Gustafson has started a Livery Stable at this place, all wanting good "turn outs," can be accommodated by giving John a call. Charges moderate.

VENISON.—We noticed a week or so ago, a huge load of Venison, being hauled to Saint Paul, by Jas. Newman of T. America. Mr. S. has bought a large quantity during the winter, the price paid at his place, averaged 6 cts. per pound.

WOOD.—Since our last snow fell wood has been coming fast. It brings from $8 to 3.25 per cord. Dry maple.

REAL ESTATE SALE.—Messrs. Thompson & Swenson have sold to Thos. Newman 25 feet of ground fronting on Broadway, between the Hotel and Knudsen's store, for $500. Mr. Newman has put a building on it.

A. H. BARBER.—We are informed by Col. Clough, the engineer in chief of the Minn. R. R. that the contract for building the bridge across the river at this point, has been let, and that work will be commenced at an early day. It is to be completed by July 1st, and will cost about $40,000. Most of the stone will be obtained at the quarry near Carver.

DISSENT.—The Co-partnership between existing between J. Dunn and H. Tanner, under the brand Dunn and Tanner is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

All persons indebted to said firm will pay the same to J. Dunn at Carver, and all having claims on said firm will present them to him for payment.

J. DUNN.

A Fearful Ride.

Frank Trask, a fireman, running on the night freight train from Hartford to Providence, had a most remarkable escape from death on Saturday night.

As the train was going on the down grade east from the summit of Bolton Mountain, he went to the forward part of the engine to oil the piston.

The oil is distributed better when the train is going the fastest, and he took this part of the road, where the train gets its highest speed, to attend to it.

By some sudden motion, the locomotive he lost his hold, and was thrown forward on to the cow-catcher, but instead of rolling off and being dashed to pieces, as he expected, the pilot caught him by a few threads in the Carling jacket he had on, so that he was held fast with his feet dragged upon the ground—dashing along in that perilous situation from 15 to 20 miles an hour.

He did not lose his consciousness nor his presence of mind, but nerved himself to take the best chances for his life. By a desperate effort he succeeded in loosening his head raised, so that it escaped the ground—though he was hanging close down, and the least depression would dash him to pieces.

The engine, in the meantime, had not discovered the frightful position of his assistant pilot, thinking that he was gone long time, and he looked forward and saw his head and shoulders protruding from the front of the locomotive, by the light of the moon, running a phantom race with the iron horse.

In an instant he whistled down brakes, and the speed began to slack.

The sudden checking of the train, the tender threads of Trask's jacket broke, and he was hurled to the ground, pitched over and over; and yet he retained his self-possession, and when his associates arrived by his side he was as clear-headed as ever.

He had noticed the alarm for down brakes, and felt that his position was recovered. He was taken to Willimantic, and brought back to Hartford by the western train, which reached here at 4 o'clock Sunday morning, and carried to his residence in the city.

His father, Mr. Trask, who lives at 30 Walnut street, Hartford, where Dr. Storrs was called to attend him. There were several cuts and contusions on his legs, and the lower part of his body, but no fractures, nor anything of a particularly dangerous nature. Two or three months ago he was on the same train, coming from Providence, when the locomotive ran into a turn-table at Willimantic, and then had his arm broken, which was not entirely healed. He says if he had that the use of both arms would have extricated himself.—Hartford Courant, Jan. 2.

The New Orleans Playhouse's local editor relates the following touching incident:

In the Police Court, on the 10th inst., a woman named Mary, who had been found in the square. He had frequently been found before in the same condition, and remonstrances seemed to have no effect in inducing him to abandon the practice. The Court, therefore, determined to deal rigidly with him, and this time endeavored to persuade him to stop.

"Can you come to the station?" "I don't like to."

"Why?" "I find too much bad company there."

"You mean the prisoners?" "No, sir."

"Who then?" "The other people who come there. They insult me."

"They want to make a policeman out of me."

One of the pestering to which the good-natured business men, bankers and lawyers of New Orleans are subjected in the performance of their daily avocations with new books over the purchase of their works. One of these peripatetic ladies, having oversteered the way, was effectively disposed of as per diabolical, following.

Madam, the partnership of which I am a member has lately been so imprudent as to issue a new work of the enormous expense attending the illustration of such a work, and which has completely crippled us.

"Then, perhaps," replied the lady, "we could procure you some subscribers. What do you call your subscribers?"

"Well, we have not yet determined. But I guess I let my wife have her own way, and call it after me—Charles Henry."

CHICAGO CORRESPONDENCE.

Chicago, Jan. 2, 1870.—At last winter has come in earnest. Last Wednesday the thermometer began to fall rapidly, and the snow that had fallen Monday night, gave the atmosphere a chill—till Friday morning the mercury was seven degrees below zero.

Sunday the cold abated somewhat, and today it is quite moderate. It has been several degrees milder here than at the principal cities in the neighboring States north, and as far south as St. Louis.

THE SILVER CONCERN.—The events of the last week—Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday evenings and Saturday afternoon, were the largest attended, crowded, most excellent, gave eminent satisfaction, and were a marked success. On Thursday evening the Scandinavians gave her an enthusiastic reception at the German House, with music, dancing, and speeches, and presented her with a laurel wreath of gold. From here she goes to St. Louis.

There have been several business failures since our last. The excellent price of corn, and the small profits of many farmers, have led to several failures. A retail dry goods house paying $12,000 rent—$8,000 more than it could, no wonder it failed.

ROSE & GORE paid $20,000 rent a year, but they do a large business, and the fact is patent, that they could not pay it. They have lost their rent, and have bankrupt tenants, and vacant stores.

THE DEMAND FOR PORT.—The demand for port is very close at the banks, the demand of port packers absorbing all their spare funds. The market for port is very tight, and the price is high.

THE PHOTOGRAPHY.—The art of transferring the likeness of the human face and form has reached a great degree of perfection. In caricature painting, where the eye catches the features, and the hand traces the shape, and the relation of the different parts, there is necessarily more skill and judgment than in the ordinary photography. The latter is a mechanical process, and the former is an art.
